A REGATTA TO BE HELD.

Work of the Virginia Boat Club During the Coming Year.

HISTORY OF THE FIRST RICHMOND CREW.

The Names of Its Founders -- The Juniors Will Go Into Practice Very Soon.-The Richmond College Boys.

The James river presents a lovely picture in the afternoons to those who take any interest in aquatic sports. Numerous pleasure boats are out every day, and the Virginia Boat Club is always largely represented. Rowing has not only become a welcome pastime to the men, but the ladies also turn out in goodly numbers to be taken down to the monitors by the membes of the club, or on shorter trips, as the case may be, shorter trips, as the case may be.

The Virginia Boat Club has seen some pretty hard times in years gone by, but at present it is in a more prosperous condition than ever before. The sport of rowing is of comparatively recent origin in this city, and up to the year 1879 there was no organized club to be found in this city. In that year the Olympic Rowing Club was started, and a boat-house was built on the banks of the canal at the foot of Gamble's Hill. The founders of the club were Messrs, Lester Blair, A. L. Blair, C. M. Ragland, E. P. Thoil W. A. Creushaw, R. H. Smith, J. L. Hill and Walter Upshur. Besides the boat-house the only property of the club consisted in one boat, the "Olympic," then a six-oared barge, which since that time has been reduced to the class of a working-boat, and is at present used by the crew of the Richmond College Club for practicing.

UNTIL THE CANAL WAS SOLD. UNTIL THE CANAL WAS SOLD.

The club remained in its original quarters until the canal was sold to the railroad company. A number of bridges being stretched across the canal it became necessary for the members of the club to look for a new home. The old boat-house was turned into a road-house by the railroad people, and the men of the Olympic Club took up their abode on Mayo's Island in 1880. After some deliberations it was decided to build the new house on the spot where it can be found at present. tions it was decided to build the new house on the spot where it can be found at present, and the foundations of an old relinquished saw-mill were used in a successful manner for the basis of the boathouse. The construction of the building cost a little over three thousand dollars, not including the fitting up of the interior, lockers, etc. In order to complete the building a debt had to be contracted, but the officers of the club were not willing to obligate themselves individually for the amount involved and it was therefore deemed advisgate themselves individually for the amount involved and it was therefore deemed advisable to secure a charter for the Boat Club. This having been done stock was issued for the amount required and found ready takers. The financial aspect not being very encouraging it was decided to sell out, and some nine or ten members of the club bought up the stock, which they still hold at the present time. The name of the club was then changed to the Virginia Boat Club.

to the Virginia Boat Club.

In the summer of 1880 the first regatta was In the summer of 1830 the first regatta was held, and the crew of the Rives Club, of the University of Virginia, carried off the prize, consisting of a silver cup. Since then regattas were held every year between the several boat clubs of the State, as stated in the columns of The Times several weeks ago. On several occasions the Virginia Boat Club was victorious, while in other instances the clubs from Norfolk, Alexandria, Fredericksburg and of the University of Virginia became the successful competitors. the successful competitors.

THE LAST REGATTA.

The last regatts was rowed in 1889 at War-wick Park. The challenge cup was won by the Virginia Boat Club, much to the disappoint-ment of the Rives Club, the only competitor in the race. The winning crew was the same one that won the race a few days before at Baltimore. Last summer for various reasons no regatta was held, but this year a race between the several clubs belonging to the State Association, will take place on Saturday, July 4th. The most important event will be the race for the challenge cup to be rowed by four-cared gig crews. Invitations to enter this race have been sent to the Appo-mattox Club of Petersburg, the Washington and Lee Club of Lexington, the Richmond College Club, the Responsible Club, of and Lee Club of Lexington, the Richmond College Club, the Rappahannock Club of Fredericksburg and the Virginia Boat Club, Mr. E. H. Bissell, of the Virginia Boat Club, has been elected chairman of the regatta committee, with the authority of electing two addi-tional members. This committee will have charge of all the details of the regatta.

REGATTA THIS YEAR. It has been decided already that the regatta is to take place near Richmond, but the course has not yet been selected. There is very little probability that Warwick Park will be the choice of the committee on account of the insufficient accommodations to reach that point. At one time it was thought to be advisable to have the regatta at Vinita, on the Alleghany railroad, about fourteen miles above this city. raifond, about fourteen miles above this city. This scheme, however, may be considered as fallen through, for the reason that the railroad company would not be able to furnish the desired accommodation in the way of observation trains, etc., and besides no provision could be made for the housing of the competing crews in that locality on 'the evening before the regatta. It is very likely that a mile and a half straight down from the Chesaneake and Chio whart to the point of Mayo's peake and Ohio wharf to the point of Mayo's sland will be selected. If this should be the Island will be selected. If this should be the case a grand-stand would be erected on Mayo's Island, giving splendid opportunity to the interested spectators to witness the finish of the several races. The men from the Virginia Boat Club would then be in a position to play the host for the visiting crews at their own boat-house.

The crew of the Richmond College Club is The crew of the Richmond College Club is hard at work every day, and its members are making very good progress in rowing. Some time ago they ordered a cedar boat from the North in every respect the make of the Virginia, which will be manned 'by' the crew of the Virginia Boat Club. For some reason the boat has not yet arrived, and the college boys are still commelled to practice in college boys are still compelled to practice in the Old Olympic. They had, intended to take part in the regatta during the com-mencement exercises at Washington and Lee University, but on account of the delay in the delivery of the boat this idea had to be drop-

During the coming week a junior crew will go into practicing from the Virginia Boat Club, consisting of F. B. Smith, B. Marshall, R. T. Wilson and J. Goerty. Very likely a second junior crew will be arranged for in time to take an active part in the coming re-gatta and a race between the four-oared unior crews from the club may be looked for on that occasion.

The boat club of the Young Men's Christian Association had to experience considerable up-hill work. A site for the boat-house had been selected right above the Virginia Club, but at the last moment some serious objection was raised by the latter organization, and it has since been agreed by the interested parties to have the house built just below the Virginia house, provided that Mr. J. Thomson Brown, the real estate agent, can be influed to have the fence of the base-ball tround set back sufficiently to afford room for fround set back sufficiently to afford room for fround set back sufficiently to afford room for the construction of the building. It is to be toped that this matter can be arranged within the next few days, and the house will then be sonstructed in two weeks' time.

The Sons of St. George.

Sir Walter Raleigh Lodge, No. 83, at its last regular meeting, installed the following officers: W. President, J. B. Walters; W. Vice-fresident, H. G. Chilver; W. Secretary, John J. Gann; W. Assistant Secretary, Raymond Cole; W. Treasurer, James A. Wallen; W. Messenger, F. W. Shaw, W. Assistant Messenger, F. D. Stroud, W. Chaplain, Rev. Aaron Jones W. Inside Sentinel, H. J. Daries; W. Outside Sentinel, George W. Stroud. The committee on accounts and hall read their report. Many subjects were brought up to be coted on during the next term. There being four lodges in the South, as soon as another s organized it is contemplated to have a Southern grand lodge of the order.

The Type-Setting Machine.

Mr. Tolbert Lauston, of Washington, was in the city yesterday on business. He is the aventor of the celebrated Lauston type-seting machine, which has now been completed and works admirably, even spacing the lines to perfection. This machine casts and sets the type at the rate of 100 per minute. It is now an assured success, but will be more useful to book printers than in newspaper work.

FARMERS INSTITUTES. Several Arranged for at the Recent Meeting of the Board of Agriculture.

Colonel Thomas Whitehead, commissioner of agriculture, returned from Danville yesterday, where he attended a meeting of the execuday, where he attended a meeting of the executive committee of the State Board of Agriculture on Thursday and Friday. The committee is composed of Colonel W. T. Sutherland, of Danville; H. L. Lyman, of Albemarle; Orris A. Browne, of Cape Charles, and the commismissioner as ex-officio, and acts in all matters pertaining to agriculture in the interrim between the regular meetings of the board. The committee was called together on this occasion to arrange for farmers' institutes in Sixth, Eighth and Ninth districts.

An institute was appointed for the Ninth casion to arrange for farmers institutes in Sixth, Eighth and Ninth districts. An institute was appointed for the Ninth district at Pulaski City, July 16th, and for the Sixth district at Bedford City, August 6th. An application was filed for the Eighth district to be held in Fauquier county which was properly referred, but the time and place was not selected. A committee was appointed to treat with the railroads for cheaper and more satisfactory freight transportation for fruit and vegetables from the Piedmont Section of Virginia to Northern points.

Colonel Sutherland took the committee to his splendid Cloverdale farm, on Dan river, three miles from Sutherland station, on the Danville and New River railroad. They found there 450 acres of low grounds, 400 of which is in splendid timothy grass. Two hundred acres of the farm is devoted to corn and eighty acres to wheat. The Commissioner reports the

He was surprised to learn that the matter had gotten into the paper, as he had only been notified yesterday of his election, and their by telegraph, and had said nothing of the matter for publication.

In answer to an inquiry Dr. Frost stated that he had not yet had time to consider the matter, and was not prepared to state what action he would take. The acceptance of the position would necessitate his removal to Nashville.

Dr. Frost has just returned from Philadel-phia, where he served as a member of the ex-amining board of the Crozer Theological Sem-

MISS ROSA FRANCK.

Funeral Ceremonies Unusually Touching-List of Pall-Bearers.

The funeral yesterday morning of Miss Rosa A. Franck at Emmanuel church was singularly affecting. The youth and lovely character of the deceased, whose death was so start-lingly sudden, drew together a large circle of both her friends and those of her parents. The funeral service was rendered especially impressive by the use of the latter por-tion of the Litany, and the scene at the grave, in the quiet Woodland cemetery behind the church, will never be forgotten by any of those who were present.

The floral tributes were numerous and were

Messrs. Charles Myer, Oscar Spott, Hammond Raabe, and C. B. Higgerson were the honorary pall-bearers and borethe floral offerings, and the active pall-bearers were Messrs. Charles C. Frommer, B. F. Neisz, W. B. Butler, P. H. Bruner, Claiborne H. Eppes, and Coursed Cross of Course of Co

The likeness is not that of the monument to be erected, but is its counterpart—Pompey's Pillar. A photograph of this pillar Mr. Foster obtained from New York, but a difficulty presented itself as soon as he received it. Unfortunately, for Pompey and the rest of the ancients were not Confederate soldiers, when the column was erected, consequently no soldier standing leaning on a musket is on top. Mr. Foster had to draw one, and after a great deal of work succeeded admirably. The photograph yesterday had a man at the foot of the column clad in a white costume, prevalent in Egypt, and the whole surroundings show modern Egypt. The latter will be allowed to remain, but the white garment will be changed.

THE HOWITZERS.

This picture, which is mounted on a panel This picture, which is mounted on a panel fourteen inches long by eight inches wide, will be the centre piece of photographic and artistic work. It is a frame about seven by nine feet, and will contain the pictures of the members of the Howitzers' Association and battery. These will be on both sides of the Confederate monument or pillar, the veterans on the left and the battery on the right.

Manufacturers make mistakes as well as or-Manufacturers make mistakes as well as ordinary people. The one we refer to made the mistake of making too many Corset Covers and was forced to sell us 300 dozen at a great loss to his own pocket. You get the benefit of his loss, however, for we have merely added the mite of a profit, and this week you'll find these same 3.600 Corset Covers on a centre table, all marked 50c, each. We wouldn't attempt to describe them. There are Cotton and Cambric and Linen, some with Lace Embroidery, Hemstitching and Cording. Don't be one of the unfortunates who'll wait until too late.
